VOLUME 1—NUMBER 285

PADUCAH, KENTUCKY, MONDAY, AUGUST 9, 1897.

TEN CENTS A WEEK

ASSASSINATED.

Premier Canovas, of Spain. Shot Down by an Anarchist.

FELL AT HIS WIFE'S FEET.

The Crime Committed at Santa Agueda, Where He Sought Health.

"LONG LIVE SPAIN" HIS LAST WORDS.

Madrid, Aug. 9.—Senor Canovas del Castillo, Prime Minister of Spain, was assassinated yesterday at Santa Agueda by an anarchist. The murderer fired three shots, one of which struck the Premier in the forehead and another in the chest.

The wounded man fell dying at the feet of his wife, who was with him. He lingered in agony for two hours and then passed away with the cry of "Long live Spain," which were his last words upon his lips. He died at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

At the moment of the assassination he was waiting in the gallery of the bathing establishment for his wife, who was to join him for lunch. Suddenly the assassin, who had the appearance of an ordinary visitor, approached and fired at him point blank, one bullet passing through the body and coming out behind, under the left shoulder, and the other two striking in the chest.

The assassin narrowly escaped lynching at the hands of the waiters and attendants who rushed forward. Detectives and civil guards immediately surrounded him. He was very pale, trembled violently and evidently feared that he would be killed on the spot. He will be tried at the local magistrate at Valencia.

It was at first rumored that the assassin was one of the pardoned Barcelona anarchists, but this is not confirmed.

The murderer declares that he killed Senor Canovas "in accomplishment of a just vengeance," and that he is a member of a vast anarchist conspiracy. He is believed to have arrived at Santa Agueda the same day as the Premier, and he was frequently seen lurking in the passages of the bathing establishment in suspicious manner.

Madrid, Aug. 9.—Later developments prove that the assassination of Senor Canovas was a premeditated murder. The police think it was the work of a great plot by the anarchists.

As a rule we don't agree with Eugene V. Debs in his statement. But however wild he may be in some of his views, he is at other times strictly orthodox. We cannot refrain from giving prominence to the following bit of sound advice which he gave the striking miners at Wilkesburg, Pa., last week: "In order to win you must retain absolutely sober. Whisky clouds the brain, robs you of your money, and makes you brutal, and also makes you do just what your enemies want you to do."

Paducah. The Sex has come to be the family paper of the Plain City. It is full of news and as a disseminator of local news has no equal in this city. This fact the people quickly recognized. It is the second to none. Indeed the phenomenal success of the Sex and its great popularity so quickly attained prompt us to the belief, which we think is well founded, that its circulation is without doubt the largest of any daily paper in Paducah. The advertising patronage of the Sex speaks for itself. Paducah's best and shrewdest advertisers make liberal use of its columns and they do so knowing full well the value of the paper and results are proving to them the wisdom of their course.

THE NEW RATIO.
The bullion value of the silver dollar according to the market price of silver during the greater part of last week was just 5.6 cents. This is in accordance with the estimates of Mr. Preston the director of the mint at Washington. This makes the commercial ratio between silver and gold 36.6 to 1 instead of the old time 16 to 1. Mr. Preston an expert in matters financial, gives the following reasons for the fall of silver. He said in a recent interview: "Simply the lack of demand for it. I see no future for silver whatever. Yesterday's market quotation made it 56 cents an ounce. It is my honest opinion that within six months silver will fall to 40 cents an ounce. There is no demand for it anywhere. China is not buying any, Japan is out of the business, and there seems to be no demand for it in any country to any extent, even for use as subsidiary coin. It is true that in the bazaar of India it is traded in as merchandise, but the famine and hard times in that country have reduced the demand to a minimum. The output of gold is steadily increasing. I think that the world's product for this year will be about $240,000,000. The United States will contribute about $60,000,000 to the supply. I base my predictions on an increased world's output upon the fact that the supply has not fallen off in any country."

FINANCE AND THE TARIFF.
Pungent Paragraphs on the Two Issues Uppermost in the Minds of the American People.
As a deficit that may appear in the national treasury during the first few months of the operation of the new tariff will not be unexpected by the framers of that measure. Anticipating higher tariff schedules the importers have been rushing foreign goods to the United States for several months so that now many lines are greatly overstocked. This will, of course, operate to impede the resumption of many factories until this large surplus is worked off. This action of the importers but emphasizes the evils of free trade. It will not take long to use up the imported stocks and then the American factories will have their turn and the American laborer will be freed, for a term of years at least, from the blight of free trade with its attendants of want, woe and misery. It was found to be no encouragement to the American workman out of a job, and without money in his pocket, to tell him that shipments of cheaper goods were coming into the markets of this country. He wanted employment before he could buy. That he will soon get employment under the new order of things is the confident expectation of all friends of the cause of Protection, and the hope even of its honest opponents.

ALMOST A YEAR OLD.
The first anniversary of the Dana Sex is near at hand. On Sept. 12th the Sex will be one year old. It is the intention of the Sex to issue on that day an anniversary number, though this has not fully been determined upon and the manager may conclude to wait until a little later in the fall.

THE SUCCESS OF THE SEX HAS BEEN beyond the expectations of its founders and we may also add beyond the predictions of its contemporaries. The "campaign sheet" as it was called, is here to stay. It is now recognized by friend and foe as one of Paducah's permanent institutions. Its lease of life is as permanent as that of either of its confederates in the local journalistic field. Its financial standing is unimpaired and it bears the substantial evidence of having had able financial management in the business office.

While the Sex has been increasing in length of days until it has almost reached the full stature of manhood, it has just as surely been adding daily to its reading clientele and to its advertising patronage. All the slurs cast upon the Sex have counted for naught in the minds of the people of teetive thirt is a breeder of trusts seem to have already forgotten that trusts never flourished in this country as they did under the three years of the Democratic tariff, which the people in their might wiped from the face of the statute books by their vote of last November.

Despite the continued fall in the price of silver, western farmers are scrambling for cars with which to transport their grain for which they are getting large prices. The thousands of cars which have been lying idle in car shops and upon the side tracks since 1893 are now one of them now being pressed into service, and thousands of others are demanded and cannot be had, while the prices for the grain which they are to transport have greatly advanced, while silver has steadily fallen. Of course there is no real significance in these two concurrent events, but Bryan and others would have had us believe last fall that wheat and silver rose and fell together.

Word comes from the states in which active political campaigns are on this fall that the gold Democrats are making rapid inroads in the ranks of the Silvercratic party, and will carry off thousands upon thousands of men who last year voted the Bryan ticket, but who now see from the developments since that time the folly and unwisdom of the silver cause.

Somebody has expressed anxiety lest Mr. Bryan and his followers should have difficulty in finding something to say in the present campaign. They will have plenty on their hands, however, if they attempt to explain how it is that wheat has gone up 23 cents per bushel since last fall's campaign, while silver has dropped 10 cents an ounce in the same period. It is noticed that silver men are singularly silent on this point.

The wild screams of delight with which the silver people at first greeted the Maryland Democratic platform have naturally subsided now that they discover it is practically an endorsement of the Republican position of 1896 since it expresses the greatest pleasure that President McKinley and the Republican Congress have done precisely what the Republican platform promised to do—taken steps to bring about an international conference on the silver question.

The people who supposed that Mr. Bryan is at all embarrassed in his free coinage theories by the fact that the value of silver in a dollar has fallen from 53 cents in the last campaign to 44 cents at the present time, evidently do not understand Mr. Bryan. A man who could have the assurance to urge that the government ought to permit everybody to put 53 cents' worth of silver into a coin and pass it for a dollar can just as well argue in favor of that privilege for 44 or 24 cents' worth of silver.

President Cleveland's order requiring consuls to turn over to the government the fees which they had usually been collecting for their own benefit has been modified by President McKinley in the case of those consuls whose salaries are $2000 per annum or less. The modification does not apply to consuls already receiving salaries above $2000, and hence destroys the value of many columns of able criticism which the Democratic editors of the land had prepared to hurl at the head of President McKinley had he made the order a general one, as they hoped, for political reasons, that he would.

Joe Patelen, the great pacer, surprised the harness horse world Friday at Columbus, O., by pacing a mile in 2:01 1/2, equalling John R. Gentry's world's record. For this early in the season the feat was remarkable. In this race Star Pointer was the favorite, as he had previously beaten Patelen with ease.

Terrible Fate of Three Gold Miners Who Were Trying to Walk Back Home.
Seattle, Wash., Aug. 6.—News has just reached here the death last April of Charles A. Blackstone, George Hotcher and J. W. Malinque, miners who went to Alaska in 1896, and were frozen to death in trying to make their way back to Seattle. They were last seen alive March 27th. Friends of this city who went to Alaska to investigate found Blackstone's body, but no trace of the other two could be found.

The following statement was found on Blackstone's body: "Saturday, April 4, 1897.—This is to certify that Hotcher froze to death Tuesday night. J. W. Malinque died Wednesday afternoon, being frozen so badly. C. A. Blackstone had his ears, nose and four fingers on his right hand, two on his left hand frozen an inch back. The storm drove us on before it. It overtook us within an hour of the summit and drove us before it. It drove everything we had over the cliff except blankets and mouse hide, which we all crawled under. Supposed to have been 40 degrees below zero. On Friday I started for salt water. I don't know how I got there without outfit. On Saturday afternoon I gathered up everything. Have enough grub for ten days, providing bad weather does not set in. Sport was blown over the cliff. I think I can hear him howl once in awhile."

Moral—Cast Your Bread Upon the Waters and Wait.
One of San Francisco's capitalists is Joseph Boardman. It is said that he is a millionaire, but to look at him you would not think it. You could hardly say that he dresses shabbily, but he comes very close to it, and appears to be a stranger to be so kindly to people whom fortune has never dealt so kindly to. Mr. Boardman's house is over in Oakland, but his office is in San Francisco, and each morning he makes the trip over on the ferry.

The other morning he started for the boat, and in his haste he forgot to transfer his pocketbook to his clothes. Of course, he did not discover this until he had reached the wharf. There was no one in the crowd that he knew of, and he searched every pocket in vain. A young man standing near by witnessed the confusion of the old gentleman, and, walking up to him, thrust a coin into his hand and moved back into the crowd.

The young man doubtless supposed that he had done an act of kindness to a needy one, and he hastened away in order to make it less embarrassing for his benefactor. He had no opportunity to get his money back, but Mr. Boardman caught him and made him a millionaire, and making him richer by $100 than he was the day before.

one thing he feared. "My papa is an awful brave man," said Tommy (cawker to young Mr. Hunter. "He drives off some burglars right before last."

Speaking about dry goods stores and the different places you purchase your wants, did you mention the name of Eley, Dipple & White in your conversation? If you did not, and do not trade with them, why not? It gives us pleasure to show our goods, notwithstanding you may not purchase, and courteous treatment is extended to all. The following reasons may prove beneficial to some who do not call and see our line of Dry Goods and Notions:

- 1st. We guarantee our goods to be first-class and our prices to be at lowest figures.
- 2nd. Our buyer is up to date and studies the wants of the people.
- 3rd. We pay cash for goods and take all discounts, consequently our goods cost less than same goods would cost merchants who do not take that advantage.
- 4th. If we sell you goods at prices less than other people in same business it will pay you to trade with us.
- 5th. We are in business to stay and cannot afford to sell goods at higher prices than our competitors. From that fact, and our desire to live and let live, we mark our goods at the lowest price.
- 6th. Our motto is quick sales and small profits. In other words we mean to sell two bolts of goods realizing only the profit some receive from one.

If you want to improve your financial condition it will do you no harm to call—our prices and goods will do the rest. Respect,

ELEY, DIPPLE & WHITE,

WRITTEN AT RANDOM.

"As the train leaving here at 7:50 o'clock in the morning will carry mail after today the 'Register's' circulation will be increased at Calvert City, Grand Rivers, Kuttawa and Eddyville, and its canvassers will visit those points early this week."
The above, from yesterday's "Register," solves the mystery of why it advocated the mail service between Louisville and Paducah. It raised a great kick when the service was abandoned several months ago, and now, by the above, proves that it was actuated in its boasted "defense of the interests of the merchant" by purely selfish motives, and wanted the service simply so its daily repository of fiction could be distributed up the Illinois Central by Uncle Sam's agents. By the way, the "Register" has a large circulation on the railroads, say the papers circulate up to Central City on one train, and back to Paducah on the other. (Great relief, it is!)

A new secret order has been added to the already long list. It is called "The Ancient and Exalted Order of the Elephant," and has its foundation in circus and theatrical circles. The initial meeting was held a few days ago at Detroit, Mich., after the progress of a year's careful development. The grand lodge has received a certificate of incorporation from the state of Wisconsin, and charters are to be issued to the "herds," as local orders are to be called. Permanent headquarters have been established at Janesville, Wis., and there are already 400 applications for membership to the parent lodge. The symbol of the order is an elephant, having to be worn by the members, buttoning on the figure of an elephant with upraised trunk, the letters A. E. O. E. being subscribed on the blanket.

This order is something similar to the "Owls," whose symbol is an owl; the "Hoo-Hoos," whose symbol is a black cat; the "Red Men," "Elks," etc. The local divisions of these orders are known as "clubs," "tribes," and by similarly appropriate titles.

"Shooting the clutes" has become very popular in Paducah, especially among the children. In a number of back yards, should one care to investigate, he would find many "shoot the clutes" on a small scale, one of the most ingenious of which is that constructed by Master Glenn Smith, the bright little son of Mr. E. W. Smith at Eighth and Madison streets, which is quite a marvel, as well as attraction in the neighborhood.

Many episodes in their everyday life can the little folks compare to shooting the clutes. The other day one little miss was sitting on the edge of the bath tub, when she lost her equilibrium and slid down into the yawning depths of soap suds. She crawled out, spluttering and wiping her eyes, but instead of crying, gleefully exclaimed to her mother, who had rushed to the rescue: "Oh, mamma! Did you see we shoot the clutes?"

Attorney Hal Corbett was nominated as a Democratic candidate for congress in the district of Missouri, lived while a resident of Missouri, Minn., a year or two ago. Political difficulties and dissensions are about the same in the far west as they are in Kentucky, and Attorney Corbett, before he could get to congress had to get elected, hence he always put in his appearance when there was a speaking on hand. On one occasion he made an ably eloquent speech, concluding with a peroration something like this: "Now, gentlemen, if you want to send me to congress, the honor will be conferred on one who will appreciate and respect it. But gentlemen, I have a beautiful home, a lovely wife and three children to whom I can go if you do not see fit to elect me. I see your own judgment, I beseech you." And the popular lawyer dwelt at some length on the attractiveness of his domestic life, and the beauty of his home.

After he had concluded, a rough, ignorant old fellow stepped up and said: "Looky hyar, we uns ain't hankerin' after seculin' no man off from such a lovely wife, beautiful home, an' three putty children. Ye've got a darned site more'n eny uv the rest uv us, ef ye're tellin' the truth, an' ef ye'll take a fule's advice ye'll sit rite down in that three beautiful arm 'stay with them three putty children uv yours."

The lawyer became indignant and told the old seadog that he didn't want such people as he to vote for him, at which the reprobate hit him a back-hander and knocked him down.

"What did you do?" inquired a yr pathetic friend of the attorney when he was telling it the other day.
"What did I do?" echoed the lawyer with a sigh of unmistakable sadness, as he gazed into the heavens above. "Oh, I can see those beautiful stars yet!"

Few people have more loyal, sympathetic hearts than physicians, although a person would be inclined to think otherwise sometimes.

Doctors, as a rule, however, after repeatedly coming in contact with sickness, suffering and sorrow, learn to control their feelings, and although they might appear cold, callous and heartless, they are inwardly so sympathetic and affected as a less experienced person would be.

A rather unusual scene was witnessed a few days ago by quite a number of people on a certain street. A little child lay ill, and every thing possible had been done to save her, but to no avail. Slowly the innocent little life ebbed away, and the potent power of medicine was powerless to prevent it. The two physicians, after exhausting the last remedy, realized that death was inevitable, and turned their backs to the bed on which lay the little sufferer, surrounded by weeping mother and relatives. The doctors had done the best they could, and passed out of the room, through the hall, to the front porch, and sitting on the front steps both shed tears that could not be restrained, and of which they were not ashamed. The picture was very expressive, and neighbors, when they saw the two physicians sitting on the steps crying, realized that grim death was about to invade another happy home.

It happened at a missionary meeting the other day. They had a new secretary, and it happened that she bore the same name that three of the other members did.

When the time for the payment of dues arrived—a time that is quite indispensable in church society circles—the new secretary remarked: "Oh Miss B.—I see you haven't paid your dues for several weeks."
"You're mistaken. I have always paid them promptly," retorted Miss B., with ill-concealed resentment.
"Beg your pardon, but I'm going by the book," apologized the new secretary, and several crowded around to find out whether Miss B. had really liquidated her obligations to the society or had gone amiss in this very essential duty.
"Why, it's your own name," triumphantly exclaimed Miss B.'s bosom friend to the amazed and humiliated secretary, and so it proved to be.
The surname of the new secretary and Miss B. was the same.

New Company Treads the Boards at LaBelle To-Night.
Manager Phelps Gets in With New People.—Amusement Notes of Local Interest.

Manager P. A. Phelps and his stock company, nine in number, arrived last night from Nashville on the steamer Butterfield, and are now installed at LaBelle park.

The members of the company are: Misses Bertha Phelps, Eberline Hogan and Ella Reed, Messrs. John Delaney, King Russell, W. C. Malone, J. B. Clark, Vernon Phelps and Manager P. A. Phelps. Mrs. Clark accompanied her husband, but is not in the troupe.

The company opens tonight at LaBelle park in John A. Stevens' celebrated "Unknown," a play that has never yet been produced in Paducah by any company, and is first-class and a sure winner.

Manager Phelps stated last night that he would present no play that has ever been seen in Paducah, during his engagement here. His program includes plays that have never been produced even in Kentucky, and the company will no doubt make a great success here.

Manager Phelps, in his opinion, they can do best. He and Miss Hogan will appear in the leads, but the others will have no particular place in the cast. The bill for the latter part of the week will be announced later.

The vitascope, at LaBelle Park Theater, drew two large crowds yesterday, both afternoon and night. The crowd last night was particularly large, which was quite a pleasant surprise to the management, considering the fact that it was Sunday night.

The Agnes Carlton-Phillips Company left at noon yesterday for Murphysboro, Ill., where it tonight begins a week's engagement. Mr. Mosley, formerly of Mabel Paige, is in advance.

PIED THE TYPE
And Poured the Whole Print-Shop Into the Ink Barrel.

High-Handed Vandalism at Cairo, Ill.—Printers Are Suspected. As One Had Made Threats.

Friday at Cairo several miscreants practically destroyed the printing office of Sol Farnhaber, who is proprietor of the Evening "People" office. Several strange types who had been working in the office are suspected of the vandalism. The fact that they have not been seen since the mischief was done strengthens the theory.

They had some differences with Mr. Farnhaber over wages they claimed due them, and one of them had been heard to make threats that he would get even with the office if he was done by printers, no one else would have thought of doing it in the manner it was done.

The newspaper forms of type were emptied in the ink fountain of the press and on the ink plate, and partly in a half-barrel about a third full of ink. The rollers of the press were rolled over the type on the ink plate, and seemingly the type in the half-barrel had been stirred up with the ink. Cases of type, embracing all the body type in the office, lower case and caps, excepting that in the forms, eight cases in all, were dumped, some in the ink, some under the press on the floor and one case out in the street, Hall's avenue. The wreck of the newspaper department of the office seems so complete that from the printer's standpoint there appears no way out of it but to buy a new outfit of material. The pied type, due to the way the job was done, is not worth boxing up for old metal. It is a hard blow for Mr. Farnhaber, as there is no insurance against such a disaster. Local printers who have worked for Mr. Farnhaber, however, say that the latter has always been in the habit of imposing on printers, and never pays what is due him. If the printer stops to argue, he calls a policeman. If this be true, he has been taught an expensive lesson.

PUNCH AND JURY

The Origin of This New Popular Entertainment.
Generations of children have found pleasure in witnessing the antics of Punch and Judy and the Jolly Bunch, and in which their adventures are played out gives amusement to both young and old. The origin of this always attractive entertainment is not English, as many who have enjoyed it may suppose, but according to the book, Punch and Judy are of Italian ancestry. In the district of Avozza, near Naples, the people are very much addicted to the making of wine from grapes; and it is curious that from antiquity they have been famous for their love of the vine. Many years ago in the season of the vintage, which is a time when every body seems to be full of fun and frolic, some country players came along through Avozza. They began to joke fun at the vineyarders, and in war of wit the players got the worst of it.

Now, the vineyarders and the vineyarders a fellow with an enormous red nose, long and crooked like a powder horn and he was the very driest and wildest of the whole company. The players were so tickled with his witty sayings, all set off by his odd face and very queer dress, that they almost went into hysterics with laughter.

After they went away, they began to think that this droll fellow would be a great success to their company; so they went back and made offers to him. These he accepted; and such was the success of his efforts that the company acquired great fame and a great deal of money. Everybody went to see this witty buffoon and all were delighted.

This example led to the establishment of a crowd or burleson in all companies of comedians; and he was always called after the original one, whose name was Punch. This was in the course of time, softened into Polesonello; the French made it Polichinello, and the English Punchinello. After a time the English, for the sake of brevity, left off the latter part of the word, and called it plain Punch.

Boy Jolly originated, history does not record; but it is very easy to surmise his story. Such a merry fellow as Punch had as good a right to a wife as anybody, if he could get one. Why not? One might think that his best-like new would have stood in his way of finding a woman willing to marry him; but his wit was an offset to this. Women are fond of wit, and Punch would have played his part all right if he could not have made it cover his nose.

Now that we have supposed Punch to have had a wife, and also supposed her name to have been Judy, we will suppose that she was a very sensible couple, now and then, to have a bit of a breeze? They lived a wandering life, and, like other people in their station, took a little liquor to raise their spirits. After the effect was over, feeling a little peevish, they fell to calling each other names, and hard blows followed. So this is their whole history.—Detroit Free Press.

The emancipation celebration held at the new fair grounds last Saturday, the 7th, was the greatest success of all celebrations and the committee has been asked to have it next year at the same place. All conveniences were at hand and plenty of seats for everybody. No one had to stand up or sit on the ground. The largest crowd was out there. Such a success was well deserved, as the committee spared no pains in making it one of the grandest features in the history of the colored people here.

on telling the court, only about fifteen minutes of incessant talking being required for the purpose. Dennis became so boisterous that he was repeatedly ejected from his own house by Miss Nemo, his daughter. He attempted to strike Jones, and was put out until the police arrived. This was done, and if the young lady desires to prosecute it she will have to take it before the grand jury. The attachment against Hook was dismissed.
